

Green Go-Karts

27th September 2009

Dear Parents,

We are starting our new topic “Adventures in the U.A.E” after the Eid break and are very excited about our new role-play area that will be opening soon. We have decided to go camping in the desert and learn many new things about the animals that live there. We will be using “Wow” words such as nocturnal and camouflage as well as dromedary and Bactrian camels. During our topic the children will learn many exciting things about the U.A. E; we will be setting sail on the Arabian Sea in our dhows and learn about pearl diving. We will be having fun in the gold and spice souks, creating beautiful henna designs and much, much more.

Our camping centre will be a fun and exciting place where the children will enhance their social skills as they co-operate and share in the centre, as well as express their feelings through language and creative play. The children will be making some of the props such as first aid boxes, lanterns and logs for the campfire as they discuss their ideas, make decisions and enhance their vocabulary.

Once again I am on the look out for the following items to add a little spark to the centre.

- Sleeping bags
- Torches
- Picnic basket
- Toy binoculars and a compass
- Travel magazines/ road maps on the U.A.E
- Small cooler box
- A pop up tent

Please remember to mark your name clearly on all your items. Any other items that you think would add to the centre that I may have missed would be greatly appreciated. Thank you once again for your support.

If you would like to come in and have some fun with us during the day, please pencil your name on the calendar that is up outside our classroom. There are three different activities for you to choose from, a class activity, a story telling activity or a free flow activity. Remember that you will be volunteering for approximately six weeks at a time so the children will get to know you and on what days you are coming in. Can I ask for two volunteers on our swimming day? This is quite a day for us and we need a little bit of extra help with dressing.

Kind regards

Tracey-lee Carolin and Ms Zayde.
